with the exception of the wind reading in the Hurdle Finals - to my knowledge it was not - wind is recorded on event cards

Dear Art,

I am missing some information which you may be able to help out with on the LA Trials.

Complete hammer results with series, high hurdles consolation round, high jumpers beyond 13th (or 10th tie) place with series of jumps, pole vault series and places beyond 11th tie, triple jump series, as well as wind readings in 100 final 200 heats and consolation, high hurdle heats, finals and consolation and some of the readings in the long and triple jumps.

If you can rush this information out the same day you receive this note, it will be mighty helpful. Enclosed is an air-mail reply label.

Thanks for your assistance.

GEORGE YOUNG--steeplechase

Somehow, I wasn't quite up for this race, but I'll settle for the win. After all, that is the big object here today. I suppose the reason I didn't feel at my peak was that tough race last week in Sacramento and the traveling back and forth from Flagstaff, Ariz., where I trained this week. Also, I knew Pat Traynor^Y was ready for a big race and there's always the element of pressure. I'm 30 years old, will be 31 next July 24. I'm 5ft. 9 and weigh 142.

It will be very difficult to train for the Mexico Olympics because it's more of an experiment to determine what the proper pace will be.

PAT TRAYNOR--steeplechase

I'm in the best shape I've been in my career. I've worked hard, but somehow I haven't been able to put together two good races in a row. Luckily, I came up to this one real well. Yes, I thought I could catch Young coming down the final stretch but he just had too much after that last hurdle. I'm a Captain in the Air Force, as an Intelligence officer. I'll be going to Athens, Greece, next Tuesday to compete in the All-Military meet. I was sick with a virus infection a month ago but it has completely cleared.

FRANK COVELLI--Javelin

We all threw terribly today but well enough to qualify. I wasn't surprised at the qualifiers--the same as at the AAU meet. The reason we were so off form is that there were so many competitors and we had to wait so long between throws. But it will be the same at the Olympic Games. Lusia of Russia is the odds-on favorite but so was Pedersen of Norway in 1964. I figure Lusia should win it at about 280 feet. The other two medals should be wide open.

RANDY MATSON--shot put

I had trouble warming up between flights. There was just too much time. I had one other good throw around 67 feet but it was foul.

I had a pretty good week in practice, around 66 feet several times, and I usually go about three feet further in a meet from my workouts. No, I don't think altitude will be a big factor in shot putting at Mexico City.

BOB DAY -- 5000 m (3rd place)

I felt great at the start and my legs were real strong. Then I started to get pains in my side, and they became more severe and I am glad I was able to hold on for third. (Day's former coach and trainer at UCLA advised Day to get checked at hospital for possible ^{citis.} appendicitis.)

JIM HINES--100 meters

I knew I won the race, even if they had to use the photo and that makes me two and two with XCharlie Green this year. Charlie congratulated me after the race. He knows we will have many races between now and Mexico City whether he wins or I win he knows one of us will win the Gold Medal for the United States. It will take a good start to win in Mexico City. That's a good track and I believe it will take a 9.7 or 9.8 to win. I ran a 10.1 there in 1965 as a freshman.

I got a poor start today and the track was slow but I was happy to win. I still plan to double in the 200 tomorrow. I want to double in the 100 and 200 in Mexico City and run on the relay. I weigh 177 pounds now which is about right for me. I was drafted by the Miami Dolphins and I plan to sign with them after the Olympics. Right now I'm working as a youth supervisor in a government program in Oakland.

CHARLIE GREENE--100

I have nothing to say, except that I'm tired.

Ronnie Ray Smith--100

I'm not a strong starter and had to come through at the end. I hope to work on my start for the next few months.

TRACY SMITH--5000

I felt real good but I's sorry Day came up with some trouble. We could have run a bit faster together. I knew if the pace was too slow in that third mile he would be tough to beat. That's why I picked up the pace. I knew something was really wrong with him when he fell back so fast.

I was surprised Lindgren was allowed to pass up the 5000 and I understand he will still have a chance to double up. More power to him if he can do it but I don't think it's fair for me to have to run the two races.

Although I have run quite a bit in altitude running at my father's camp (Fishing Creek Lodge, in the Sierras), at 8000 feet. But it is hilly and my running has all been slow. I think the 5000 time in Mexico City will be about 30 seconds slower than normal. I will go to Greece next week to run in a Military meet. But I won't worry about preparations for Mexico City right now. My concern is to run well tomorrow in the 10,000 and then make the team at Lake Tahoe in both events.

BOB BEAMON--Long Jump

I'm very tired right now and will take a couple of months off. I'll go back to New York and try to get a job with youth groups. I'll just relax and play some basketball. I love it. I have hopes of playing it professionally some day. I'm 6ft. 2 3/4in. tall and weigh 156 pounds.

1st day
BOB SEAGREN--pole vault

Considering all the troubles I've had in some meets this year, I consider myself extremely lucky to win today. Yet, I felt very confident. I had probably the best workout of my life last Tuesday, clearing 16 feet 8 straight times. I felt strong today, but I thought I would have to clear 17-8 to win. This Vaughn is mighty tough. I will go to Europe for about five meets this summer, on my own.

Note: Railsback injured ~~index~~ index finger of right hand and will have it X-rayed tonight.

LEE EVANS--400 meters

I was very happy with lane six, especially with Taylor in the next one at lane seven. He took me out real nice, so I didn't have to worry about Mathews and James. Sure enough, they were in back of us as we hit the stretch and never could catch up. But I didn't think Taylor would be quite that tough.

About the boycott, I understand professor Edwards will make a statement tomorrow. I don't know the place or time, though. The black athletes did have an orientation meeting after the AAU meet in Sacramento last week and last Friday at Cal Poly Pomona. We voted on several things, which Prof. Edwards will announce. The vote was decisive for it.

Today, there has been quite a bit of comment about the fact that Smith and Carlos drew the two worst lanes in the 200 (8th and 1st). It seemed quite odd to us black athletes, since they have been identified with the boycott movement since the start.

RICK FOSBURY--high jump

I just didn't feel very well today. Nothing in particular, but my legs felt tired and I couldn't get psyched ~~and~~ up. I took only one jump at 7ft. 3in. and decided I wasn't going to make it so I told the official I was calling it a day. I really haven't felt up to par since the NCAA. So I'm grateful I was at least good enough to win. My best ever is 7-2 $\frac{1}{4}$, at the NCAA.

RON WHITNEY--400m. Hurdles

I didn't know I was the winner until the finish. I leaned into the tape. Actually, I had trouble all the way around. Around the curve when I usually accelerate, I had to chop my stride and it really effected me. I finally got going good in the stretch, but I was quite surprised at the fast time. Therefore, I know I can run faster, once I iron out the problems. I have done quite a bit of research on altitude training and I'm ~~xxxxxxxxxx~~ convinced that in my event the problem is mostly mental. A person in good shape should be able to handle it.

GEOFF VANDERSTOCK--400m. hurdles

This was unquestionably my best race. I've been working for it all year so it's very gratifying that it came off as planned. I knew I would have to be ahead at least with two hurdles to go. Sure enough, Whitney caught me and there was nothing I could do about it. But I'll settle for second. The biggest factor in my improvement is that I straightened out my step problem.

WADE BELL--800 meters

I knew the pace was too fast right from the 220 mark. It usually is. But I knew I was the strongest runner so wasn't worried. I made my move just at the time I planned. I didn't like the start, on a curve. The rules say it should be from lanes and in stagger. The way it caused a lot of congestion and there could have been trouble. I ran my usual race, pretty even with the last quarter faster. I also don't like the idea that even though I won here, I didn't clinch a position on the team. I still have to prove it all over again at Tahoe. I understand that if I finish third there, or even a close fourth, I will probably make it. But what if I don't?

FELIX JOHNSON--800 meters

I was boxed on the last curve and decided to save my energy for the stretch. Now I think the way I finished maybe I could have won it by gambling. I felt strong at the finish. My fastest time is 45.8 from the blocks and 45.3 relay. I'm 6ft. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ and am a senior, 21 years old.

I threw worse than I felt. I warmed up with a 216-footer, which really surprises me in the Coliseum, but just couldn't approach it after we got going. Don't get me wrong. I was very satisfied to win even with a mediocre throw, but I know 205 ft. won't be too good in Mexico City. I had hoped to hit 210 today. I'll have to be at my best in Mexico City. Al Oerter is a very tough man to beat because he is so consistent. He is always right out there at 200 ft., even on bad throws. If I get a bad throw it goes 150 ft. I have beaten Al for two years now and I don't intend to let him beat me now. I have been over 216 ft. about six times now and I feel that I can hit that anytime I have about a 15 mph wind to throw into. But that's not likely in Mexico City because of the lack of density in the air. Al Oerter is still the man to beat although the Europeans such as Ludwig Danek are always tough. I have improved this year because of changes in my technique. Right now I plan to retire after the Olympics. I am 31, 6-2 and 245 lbs. I am in the insurance business in Logan, Utah.

AL OERTER --- Discus

This was my best throw of the year and, although I had hoped to be over 200 ft., I am fairly satisfied. This was my fifth competition of the year and I figure that I am coming around. It just takes longer to get in shape now. It may be of interest that I have never won an Olympic Trials meet. I am working for a good consistent base of 207. Last week I was almost afraid that I wouldn't make the top six. I feel better now. I'll be 32 at the time of the Games, but I don't intend to retire. I am 6-5 and 257. I should be 265 by October.

DAVE PATRICK--1500 meters

I didn't mind the slow pace at all. It really doesn't make any difference to me, as long as I'm in a good position heading into the stretch. No, I'm really not sorry Jim Ryun wasn't in the race, as long as he recovers in time to make the team. I just can't see an Olympic Games without Ryun. I let up with about 10 yards to go and looked around. I'm sorry and won't do that again. I'm very tired from a long campaign and will take at least a couple of weeks off from hard training.

SAM BAIR--1500 meters

Since I'm a pretty good finisher, I was glad to have a slow pace. I wasn't at all satisfied with my race in the NCAA, where I layed too far back and finished fourth. Also, I was spiked in that race so stood out of the AAU. So I was happy to run so well today.

MARTY LIQUORI--1500

I hadn't planned to go out in front but the pace was so slow I had no choice. I realized I can't finish w th those other fellows, including the Oregon boys. I just can't relax when I'm in front.

Tracy Smith declined to run because he ~~didn't know~~ knew he could run at the Tahoe trials anyway and the three who had trailed him in the AAU finished in the same order. The winner was little, hard-kicking Bill Clark of the Marines, followed by Van Nelson and Tom Laris. It would have been no surprise to anyone had not Gerry Lindgren been in the race.

Lindgren came up with Achilles tendon trouble after the NCAA and why he elected to run when dozens of others were successfully petitioning the way to Tahoe is known only to him. Perhaps he wanted to achieve the Olympic qualifying standard of 29 minutes. At any rate, he set off as if his left ankle and tendon were not well taped. His red shoes twinkled at the head of the pack for nearly four-miles as he crossed mile markers in 4:28, 9:09 and 13:57. Laris and Nelson were with him all the way and at 13½ laps it became a six man race as Clark, Eamon O'Reilly and Jim Murphy closed a one-time 30 yard gap. Lindgren relinquished his lead to Laris at 15 laps, and O'Reilly was in front at four-miles in 18:51. Here Gerry surged, ~~xxxxxxx~~ but only for about 100 yards. Two-and-a-half circuits later the veteran Olympian suddenly was out of it. He quickly dropped back 10 yards behind fifth place and was noticeably limping. By five miles, where O'Reilly clocked 23:41, Lindgren was merely trotting and was being advised by concerned fans to drop out. At 5½ miles an official ~~made~~ made the same suggestion, which Lindgren gratefully accepted.

Murphy, meanwhile, was dropped with 600 meters remaining and at the 9 O'Reilly was six yards back. The pace quickened down the back straight and Laris led at six-miles in 28:22, with Nelson in position on his shoulder and Clark close up. The positions were unchanged but with 200 meters left it was apparent Clark was just waiting for the opportune moment to strike and that the race was his. The much improved former Notre Damer cut loose just before turning for home and it was all over. With a 59 second last lap he won by in 29:11.0 by eight yards over Nelson, who had five on Laris. O'Reilly, who did not finish the AAU, was fifth in a PR 29:17.6 while Murphy was another 11 seconds back, just slower than his AAU time.

Charlie Greene, who has one of the best finishing leans in the business used his dip to nearly defeat Jim Hines, who has almost no forward inclination at all. Hines is an upright pull runner and at the finish he does little more than nod his head as he drives through. Greene thrusts both arms back, shoulder high, bends at the waist about 35 degrees forward of the vertical, and thrusts his head forward, not down. He gains about six vital inches on Hines. This time Charlie made up all but a fraction of an inch of the deficit. In fact, my reading of the Longine phototimer picture calls it a deadheat with the forward portion of Greene's neck even with Hines' chest. It wouldn't be right to label it a bad call, however, as the photo is small, the differential slight, and it's a matter of opinion as to where the neck ends and the non-counting head begins.

Three false getaways and a portion of a victory ceremony delayed the start of the ~~ball~~ black final. Greene, who had won his heat against a 2.91 mph wind in 10.3, was three lanes to the right of Hines, who ~~had~~ needed 10.4 bucking a 7.82 mph blow, with third favorite Ronnie Ray Smith on the outside. Chunky Mel Pender moved first, as usual, but Hines' strong pickup propelled him into a narrow advantage by 20 meters. Greene, who beat Hines by about nine inches in the AAU, took longer to make his move and it wasn't until the 80 meter mark that he caught the fading Pender and drew nearly even with Hines.

Hines was given 10.2 against a breeze, Greene 10.3, and Smith ~~10.4~~ 10.4. But photo times show Greene even with Hines ~~with~~ Smith only four-hundredths back so ~~the~~ adjusted times become 10.2 for all three. ~~com~~ Smith, who closes hard, leans like Greene, and is steadily more impressive, was 16 inches back and nine ahead of Pender, who had a yard Kirk Clayton. Adjustments ~~made necessary for all placers~~ to faster times were necessary for all placers, one by a full two-tenths. (Bud Nelson)

Bob Beamon passed his last three chances and could have passed his second and third as well. The skinny (6'2 3/4", 156 lbs.) New Yorker soared 26'8 3/4" on his initial effort and that was more than a foot better than he or anyone else could do the rest of the day.

Ralph Boston, who restrained a knee when he took more jumps than he thought he should in the AAU, ~~was~~ did not compete and the other two members of the big four did not threaten. Gerry Proctor could not improve on his first round 25'2 3/4" and also declined his final three tries. Gayle Hopkins, who moved into second with 25'8" on ~~his~~ his second leap, took two more before calling it a day. The others could not enjoy the luxury of passing as four of them battled all the way. Phil Shinnick grabbed fourth with 25'1/2", ahead of Charlie Mays (24'10"), Stan Whitley (24'9") and Tom Chilton (24'9"). The first four finishers each had two 25-footers. Beamon said, "I'm very tired right now and will take a couple of months off. I'll go back to New York and try to get a job with youth groups. I'll just relax and play some basketball. I love it. All 10 finalists took a standing start from the curved starting line and after ~~making a big jam~~ a not unexpected big jam on the first bend it was Mark Winzenried who moved up front. The spectacular Wisconsin freshman likes to be ahead and as he sped past 200 meters in 24.9 he had four yards on Felix Johnson of Prairie View. By the 400 clocking, in a still swift 51.7, Winzenried ~~still had~~ a two yard gap on Johnson, ~~who~~ who brought a 1:47.8 880 clocking into the meet and who pressed Bell in the prelims. Bell, perhaps remembering Winzenried's big lead and impressive 1:46.5 at the AAU, had moved to third, four yards behind Johnson. A half-lap later, reached in a blistering 1:18.5, Johnson had closed the gap but Bell was still five yards behind.

The strong-looking Bell made his move as Winzenried led into the ~~stretch~~ stretch. It was a ~~powerful~~ powerful, steady surge but it cut down the battling yearling only slowly and the Oregonian didn't go ahead until 75 yards out. Meanwhile, Johnson, a 6'2½" senior who has run 45.8, had escaped a last curve box and was gaining a little, even on Bell. He took Winzenried and held Bell even in the last 50 yards, losing by about three yards. Tom Farrell, seeking his second Olympics after suffering a broken ankle last winter, finished well to clock 1:47.3, equal to his Armed Services championship. Bell said, "I knew the pace was too fast right from the 220 mark. It usually is. But I knew I was the strongest runner so wasn't worried. I ran my usual race, pretty even, with the last quarter faster." Hunt revealed he decided to save strength when he was boxed and thought "the way I finished maybe I could have won it by gambling."

White-haired Dave Patrick is a cool, poised tactician with the speed to make his tactics succeed, and he did everything right here in the Coliseum except for one alarming error.

After two fast-finish heats, the finalists dawdled along at a carefree 60.3, 2:04.9, and 3:05.3. Patrick ran easily, forced to restrain each stride to run so slowly. He stayed near the rear, on the curb, unworried about being boxed in or about the slow pace. He said, "I didn't mind the slow pace at all. It really doesn't make any difference to me, as long as I'm in a good position heading into the stretch."

He began seeking a favorable position on the last lap. Into the last curve he was sitting third, and he began his drive before entering the homestretch. He was thwarted momentarily by the right elbow of his freshman teammate, Martin Liquori, but he fought past, cutting in sharply to the curb. He protected his left flank by staying close to the curb and strode down the stretch in the most important race of his life as if it were a heat, looking around occasionally for his opposition.

That was his perilous mistake. He slowed down so much that little Sam Bair gained more than two yards on him in the last five. Bair, an exciting finisher whose tactics seem designed for losing, stayed out of contention all the way to the long home stretch. He ran down the stretch like a frightened gazelle and he almost caught Patrick napping, losing by only a yard when Patrick came to a stop just over the line. (both run 3:43.6)

Patrick said, "I let up with about ten yards to go and looked around. I'm sorry, and I won't do that again."

Bair said, "I was happy to run so well today."

Tall, slim Martin Liquori took over the lead on the first lap and held it almost until the homestretch. He said glumly, "I hadn't planned to go out in front, but the pace was so slow I had no choice. I can't finish with those other fellows." When Patrick cut close in front of him coming out of the last curve, Liquori broke stride, watched helplessly as two yellow and green uniforms went past, then started sprinting. He had the satisfaction of passing both Oregon runners, but he saw ~~Bair~~ Bair's black and yellow sweep past 20 yards from the end. Liquori finished in 3:44.2.

Dave Wilborn, who wanted a fast pace, merely followed Liquori's slow one and had to watch in despair as four runners passed him in the last 120 yards. He repassed his teammate, Roscoe Divine, but he almost finished sixth.

Jerry Richey, like Liquori only one year out of high school, led the pack around the first curve, was third at the 440 and 880, and fell back to fifth at three laps. He ~~was~~ finished courageously, passing the fading Divine, and was given fifth place in 3:44.6. Divine ~~lost~~ the same time as Wilborn.

AAU champ John Mason stayed well back until he made a threatening move on the outside at the gun. But the others picked up the pace and he was boxed on the curve. He raced down the homestretch alongside Richey and was passed only by Bair.

~~Roscoe~~ Divine faded badly at the end. Tom Von Ruden made his usual move in the backstretch but he still lacks last year's exciting power. Brian Kivlan, after three good races in a row, let the field go when the urgent running began down the backstretch.

Patrick's last lap was 54.1, to Bair's impressive 53.7 and 54.6 for Liquori. Patrick's last 880 was 1:56, his last 320, 38.1. Richey's 54.7 was the fourth fastest last lap. (Cordner Nelson)

Olympic Picture Hazy

BY JERRY WIZIG

Los Angeles—To assistant coach Stan Wright, the U.S. Olympic track team's chances look good as gold at the Mexico City Olympics. Wright adds one big if.

"I think we'll have the greatest team in the history of the U.S. if we get through our problem with the boycott," he said. Wright, the former track coach at Texas Southern, referred to the proposed Negro boycott of the Olympics and he got another example Sunday of how heated dealings are on that subject.

During the final day of the Olympic Trials at Memorial Coliseum, Wright was subjected to a verbal attack by Mrs. Tommie Smith, wife of the world 200 and 400-meter record holder.

Smith was given the eighth (outside) lane in Sunday's 200-meter finals after winning his heat in the fastest time of the prelims. The lanes were drawn from a hat but Mrs. Smith charged her husband was given the worst lane because he is identified with the Negro boycott.

She was sitting in a section in the stands with Harry Edwards, the San Jose State teacher who is the major spokesman for the boycott. After the 200 finals, in which Smith beat Jim Hines by a yard in an excellent 20.2, supporters of the boycott held up a sign which read "Why Run In Mexico City And Crawl At Home."

"The lanes for the 200 were drawn from a hat," said Wright. "They were drawn by lot and the luck of the draw." Wright was chairman of the seedings committee for the Trials.

Hines was one of three Houston Striders who won events. He took the 100-meters Saturday, Randy Matson won the shot put and Bob Beamon won the long jump.

Sunday, Felix Johnson of Prairie View was second in the 800-meters in 1:46.5, a career record and the fastest ever run by a Texan. George Hunt of the Houston Striders was eighth in 1:48.6 but probably will be given a chance to make the Olympic team during the high altitude training camp at South Lake Tahoe in September.

Dave Morton, University of Texas freshman, finished next to last in his special 400-meter race Sunday that was held among non-qualifiers for the finals. Hurdler Willie Davenport of the Striders and miler Preston Davis, a University of Texas ex who is now in the service, will be advanced to the Lake Tahoe camp because of injuries.

Clyde Glosson of Trinity failed to make the finals in the 200-meters and high jumper John Hartfield of the Striders cleared 6-10 and may be invited to the training camp.

Boycott Echoes Mix With Olympic Cheer

NEW YORK POST MONDAY, JULY

Special to the Post

LOS ANGELES—The Negro boycott issue hung threateningly over Memorial Coliseum yesterday as 25,654 watched the United States' greatest array of athletes, led by American record-breaker Art Walker and Field Trials.

Walker, competing for the Southern California Striders, improved 55 feet 1½ inches to improve his own best mark by almost three inches and hoisted himself to fourth on the all-time world list.

It was a day of surprises and two distinct disappointments. Little Gerry Lindgren of Washington State, suffering from a sore Achilles tendon for two weeks, had to drop out of the 10,000 meters. Former Notre Dame runner Bill Clark, who in the Marines won in the spectacular time of 29:11.

Then in the 110-meter hurdles, world record holder Earl McCullough of USC, after a great start, hit the last three hurdles and finished seventh while Ervin Hall of Villanova, whom the Trojan had beaten in the NCAA championships, won in 13.6 seconds.

McCullough, whose 13.2 last year tied the world mark, stumbled and almost fell as he crashed into the third hurdle from the finish, but managed to stagger through to a 14.2.

A close second to Hall was Tom White of the Striders, followed by teammate Leon Coleman.

The Negro boycott threat was ever-present both Saturday and yesterday as its instigator, Harry Edwards, a former part-time instructor from San Jose State College, was on hand to press the movement.

Many Wear Badges

Many Negro athletes wore a dollar-size green and white badge, carrying his motto: Olympic project for human rights.

In the stands just east of the finish line someone displayed a sign, also in green printing, with these words:

"Why run at Mexico and away at home?"

Lee Evans, who won the 400-meter dash in a spectacular finish in 45.1, said there would be a boycott announcement today. The San Jose State star has been strongly identified with the boycott movement.

The best track mark of the afternoon was turned in by Tommie Smith, who beat his constant rival, Jim Hines, in the 100 meters by a stride in 20.2 seconds. That was two-tenths slow rather than his world record. Ronnie Ray Smith was a close third.

Next to the two sprint races, the 400-meter hurdles victory by Ron Whitney, ex-Occidental College star, stood out. A graduate student at Colorado, Ron finished with a rush to win in 49.5, the best in the world this year.

Indications that the U.S. may have its finest 800-meter runner since Tom Courtney won for America at Melbourne in 1956, was given by the powerful sprint finish of Wade Bell, formerly of Oregon, to score a 1:46.1 victory.

As for the 1,500-meter run, Villanova's Dave Patrick also established his ability in the absence of the ailing Jim Ryun, winning easily in 3:43.6.

Afield, Jay Silverter won the discus with a best of 205 feet, 4 inches. Dick Fosbury, Oregon State star who clears the bar on his back, took the high jump at 7-1.

Counted on Late Kick

In the 800, Bell said the fast 51.6 first 400 didn't dismay him "because I knew I had the strongest finish" and the former Oregon star demonstrated it as he went out in front on the last turn and raced to a four-stride win over Felix Johnson, the 21-year-old Prairie View (Tex.) College junior, in 1:46.1.

Wisconsin freshman Mark Winzenried, an early leader, came in third ahead of Olympian Tom Farrell.

The 1,500 meters went much as expected. Patrick contented himself with running deep in a pocket in the early stages, but just before the gun lap he spurred out into third place, took the lead on the backstretch and lengthening his stride, pulled out in front by 10 yards.

In winning the discus throw at 205 feet, 4 inches, Silvester was unhappy because he had hoped to toss the platter at least 210 feet. The Smithville, La.

Olympic Squad Up In Air

Atop Nevada 88p

By MAXWELL STILES

Just about everything that concerns the week-end's so-called but misnamed Final Olympic track and field trials today was up in the air.

Up in the air until announcement expected today from Harry Edwards is the result of a vote taken on the Olympic boycott movement by Negro athletes Friday night at Pomona.

It turned out to be just an Olympic development meet from which just about any athlete who can breathe next September will be taken up in the air to South Lake Tahoe's 7377-foot elevation for high altitude training and a final showdown among about a dozen athletes in each event.

No matter what happened here, just about anybody can still make the Olympic team.

"I can't say what we decided but the vote was one-sided," Edwards said at the Coliseum Sunday where he sat among 25,464 spectators watching a majority of America's best track athletes in their first scramble toward making the team for Mexico City.

This remark by Edwards suggests he has a boycott in his pocket, but it is not thought that all the black athletes will support the ban. Those most likely to do so would be Tommie Smith and John Carlos of the San Jose-Santa Clara beehive.

The Olympic Committee has made sure there will be plenty of replacements for those who boycott as well as those who in September prove themselves unable to perform up to their usual credentials when competing at an altitude very similar to that of Mexico City.

Earl McCullough hit the eighth hurdle while far out in front and nearly fell to the track. He finished seventh, beating only one man. But he will be given another chance at Tahoe unless he signs with the Detroit Lions for pro football.

Gerry Lindgren didn't run in the 5,000 meters on Saturday. Sunday he set pace early in the 10,000 but dropped back steadily until he was nearly lapped. Gerry dropped out of the race with two laps to go and said later he had injured an Achilles tendon in the NCAA meet but hadn't told anyone about the injury.

The story of Gerry Lindgren is from Zeus four years ago to Achilles in 1968. In 1964 he won that famous 10,000 meters vs. the Russians while still a high school boy.

Lindgren, however, will have his chance at Tahoe. Who will not?

Wade Bell, after winning the 800 meters in 1:46.1 (equal No. 2 in the world this year), perhaps had the best observation on the decision to turn this meet into one where the Olympic Committee merely counted its money rather than its qualified athletes.

"I don't like the idea that even though I won here, I didn't clinch a position on the team. I still have to prove it all over again at Tahoe. I understand that if I finish third there, or even a close fourth, I will probably make it. But what if I don't?"

The outstanding performances of the meet were those of Art Walker in the triple jump, Ron Whitney in the 400-meters hurdles, George Young in the steeplechase, Tommie Smith in the 200 meters and by both Lee Evans and Emmett Taylor in the 400 meters.

Walker became the first American to better 55 feet when his final leap measured 55-13/4. It was the fourth best mark on record and second best in the world this year.

Whitney former Oxy athlete now representing the S.C. Striders, clipped off the fast intermediate hurdles lap of the year with a time of 49.5. USC's Geoff Vanderstock was only a tenth-second back of him.

Evans and Taylor finished abreast in the 400 meters in 45.1, Evans winning by inches.

Tommie Jet's time for 200 meters was 20.2, fastest time in the nation this year by an American. He had a hard time beating Jimmie Hines of the Houston Striders.

On Saturday Young won the steeplechase in 8:34.2, only mark of the day that was of Olympic calibre.

Dick Fosbury of Oregon State was the big crowd-pleaser when he won the high jump with his "Fosbury Flop" at 7-1.

Edwards' comment on taking so many athletes to Lake Tahoe was: "If you have to go down that far to get a white cat, maybe they're going to run a boy's camp at Lake Tahoe."

Six of 18 events here were won by black athletes, 12 by whites.

During the meet, Negroes in the stands displayed a large sign which read, "Why run in Mexico and crawl at home."

Lee Evans criticized lane assignments in the 200 final which placed Carlos in Lane 1 and Tommie Smith in Lane 8. He suspected something sinister.

Hilmer Lodge, chairman of the U.S. Olympic track and field committee, said a committee of six, headed by Negro coach Stan Wright, did the seedings by drawing out of a hat. Inasmuch as the black athletes look upon Wright as an Uncle Tom, they still were suspicious.

Tommie said he thought the athletes themselves should have drawn the numbers out of a hat. But maybe the hat was "fixed."

Boycott Issue Felt At Olympic Trials

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN

Los Angeles Times Service

LOS ANGELES—The Negro boycott issue hung threateningly over Memorial Coliseum yesterday as 25,654 watched the United States' greatest array of track and field athletes, led by American record breaker Art Walker in the triple jump, complete a second day of sparkling performances in the Olympic trials.

Walker, a former Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., soldier competing for the Southern California Striders, leaped 55 feet 1 3/4 inches to improve his own best mark by almost three inches and hoist himself to fourth on the all-time world list.

IT WAS a day of surprises and two distinct disappointments. Little Gerry Lindgren of Washington State, suffering from a sore achilles tendon for two weeks, had to drop out of the 10,000 meters. Former Notre Dame runner Bill Clark, now in the Marines, won in the unspectacular time of 29:11.

Then in the 110-meter hurdles finals, world record holder Earl McCulloch of USC, after a great start, hit the last three hurdles and finished seventh while Ervin Hall of Villanova, whom the Trojan had beaten in the NCAA championships, won in 13.6 seconds.

MCCULLOUGH, WHOSE 13.2 last year tied the world mark, stumbled and almost fell as he crashed into the third hurdle from the finish, but managed to stagger through to a 14.2.

A close second to Hall was Tom White of the Striders, followed by teammate Leon Coleman.

The Negro boycott threat was ever-present both Saturday and yesterday as its instigator, Harry Edwards, a former instructor from San Jose State College, was on hand to press the movement.

MANY NEGRO athletes wore dollar-size green and white badges, carrying this motto: "Olympic Project for Human Rights."

Lee Evans, who won the 400-meter dash in a spectacular finish in 45.1, said there would be a boycott announcement today. The San Jose State star has been strongly identified with the boycott movement.

IN THE 10,000, it became evident early that Lindgren was not his former self. He stayed with the leaders a while, then sagged far back midway through the grind and dropped out in the last mile.

Second to Clark was Pan American Games winner Van Nelson, a student at St. Cloud (Minn.) College, three strides back of the victor, with veteran Tom Laris of the New York A.C. a close third.

The best track mark of the afternoon was turned in by Tommie Smith, who beat his constant rival, Jim Hines, in the 200 meters by a stride in 20.2 seconds. That was two-tenths slower than Smith's world record. Ronnie Ray Smith was a close third. Arizona State's Jerry Bright was sixth in 20.6.

NEXT TO THE two sprint races, the 400-meter hurdles victory by Ron Whitney, ex-Occidental College star, stood out. A graduate student at Colorado, Ron finished with a rush to win in 49.5, the best in the world this year.

Indications that the United States may have its finest 800-meter runner since Tom Courtney won for America at Melbourne, Australia, in 1956, was given by the powerful sprint finish of Wade Bell, formerly of Oregon, to score a 1:46.1 victory.

As for the 1,500-meter run, Villanova's Dave Patrick also established his ability in the absence of the ailing Jim Ryun, winning easily in 3:43.6.

AFIELD, JAY Silvester won the discus with a best of 205 feet, 4 inches. Dick Fosbury, Oregon State star who clears the bar on his back, took the high jump at 7-1 with ex-University of Arizona star Ed Caruthers second at 7-0.

Evans out-muscled Emmett Taylor in the last strides of the 400-meter dash for his 45.1 winning time after the tall Ohio U. star moved ahead of Larry James, Villanova, the early leader.

In winning the discus throw at 205 feet, 4 inches, Silvester was unhappy because he had hoped to toss the platter at least 210 feet.

THREE-TIME gold medal winner Al Oerter, in only his fifth competitive appearance this season, was pleased with his 197-10 for second place.

Although he suffered from a slight shoulder separation, Orange Coast College professor Ed Burke still was able to get the hammer out 224-1, to win the event by two inches over Tom Gage of the New York A.C.

LOS ANGELES — No matter what they decide to do about their future insofar as the Olympic Games at Mexico City are concerned, one thing was certain here Sunday — Tommie Smith and Lee Evans came to run, as the tempo on the last day of the U.S. Olympic Men's Track and Field Trials picked up considerably.

Meanwhile, a decision has been made regarding a proposed boycott by black athletes of the Games and will be disclosed today, Evans said after winning the 400-meter dash in 45.1.

Smith, Evans Spark L.A. Meet

"I can't say what we decided but the vote was one-sided," he said.

Evans, the NCAA champion, said Harry Edwards, former San Jose State instructor who is spearheading the boycott movement, would make the announcement.

"We met Friday night at Pomona (Calif.) and during the National AAU meet in Sacramento," Evans continued. He said the vote was taken at Pomona.

In Sunday's trials, Smith tied his own Los Angeles Coliseum record of 20.2 in winning over Jim Hines of the Houston Striders. Starting in lane eight, supposedly a poor position, Tommie started fast and held the lead all the way. Hines was timed in 10.3 in second place.

Another Smith, Ronnie Ray, Tommie's successor as San Jose State's fastest human, took third place in 20.4, the fastest time of his career. John Carlos, former Detroit sprinter now running for the Santa Clara Valley Youth Village, finished fourth and assured himself of continuing training at high altitude in September. His time was 20.6.

Evans broke fast out of the starting blocks to win the 400 meter final. His time was one-tenth of a second off his best. Evans did not seem to be bothered by a strained tendon in his left ankle as he ran a strong race.

Evans said he was very happy with lane six today, but that there was much comment about the fact that Tommie Smith and John Carlos drew the worst lanes for the 200 meter final.

Hilmer Lodge, chairman of the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Committee, said a committee of six, headed by Negro coach Stan Wright, did the seedings by drawing bullets out of a hat.

"It was just the luck of the draw that Smith and Carlos were in lanes eight and one," he said.

Edwards earlier was asked about a decision by the Olympic committee to take from 6 to 10 athletes in each event to Lake Tahoe, for high altitude training, a decision which is regarded by some as a means of combatting the proposed boycott.

He replied, "If you have to go down that far to get a white cat, maybe they're going to run a boy's camp at Lake Tahoe."

One of the big disappoint-

ments of the final day of competition was the failure of Earl McCullough of Southern California to finish better than seventh in the high hurdles. McCullough was out in front until he hit the next to last hurdle to lose his stride. Then he clipped the last hurdle and finished out of the money. McCullough, who is being hounded to sign a pro football contract, may still be given a chance to report to the high altitude training site in September.

Another disappointment came in the 10,000 meter run when little Gerry Lindgren of Washington State, the favorite, pulled up lame and dropped out of the race after leading in the early stages. Lindgren pulled out of the 5,000 meter race on Saturday because he said he was bothered by an injury. Gerry was figured to double up in the 5,000 meters and the 10,000 in the Olympic Games. It remains to be seen now whether or not the Olympic committee will give him a chance later at Lake Tahoe.

The long race was won by Bill Clark of the U.S. Marine Corps in the time of 29 minutes, 11 seconds.

One of the bright spots on the program was Art Walker's victory in the triple jump. Walker, of the Southern California Striders, set a new American record of 55 feet, 1 3/4 inches. He also held the old mark of 54 feet, 11 inches.

Jay Silvester, a former Youth Village competitor, won the discus throw with a toss of 205-4 feet, well behind the 218-4 mark he set on May 25 of this year. Silvester was well ahead of Al Oerter, the man who has won three gold medals for the United States in a period of three Olympic Games. Oerter's throw was 197-10.

The high jump was won by Dick Fosbury of Oregon State with a mark of 7-1.

Winner of the 400-meter hurdles was Ron Whitney of the Southern California in the time of 49.5.

Tommie Smith demonstrated that he was going to be difficult to beat when he won the second heat of the 200 meters in the time of 20.6. Tommie was trailing, 40 yards from the tape, but put on his usual good kick to nose out Ronnie Ray Smith.

The first heat was won by Tom Randolph of the Philadelphia Pioneers in the best time he has registered this year, 20.5. He finished three tenths of a second ahead of Carlos.

In 55-13/4

Triple Jump

By Al Moss

Los Angeles

Veteran Art Walker smashed his own American record with a 55-13/4 leap in the triple jump yesterday, but otherwise it was the have-nots that made the news in a somewhat dreary Olympic Track and Field Trials at the Coliseum.

Two of America's greatest stars, little Gerry Lindgren and lithe Earl McCullouch, fell by the wayside as two days of competition, that decided very little, were completed.

Lindgren, suffering from a painfully, if not seriously, injured Achilles tendon, made a game fight of it in the 10,000 meter run after scratching from Saturday's 5000. He led for most of the first five miles, although never by more than a few yards over Van Nelson, Tom Laris and Eamon O'Reilly.

But at that point the pain became too much. He quickly fell back to sixth, trailing the leaders by nearly half a lap, and after running five and a half miles of the six-mile-plus race, he stepped off the track.

For McCullouch, it was a bad day all around. In the semifinal of the 110-meter high hurdles, where the Pearl shares the world record of 13.2, he got his usual lightning start but Tom White came fast at the wire to nip him in 13.8.

In the final McCullouch again was out very fast, but he ticked the eighth hurdle with his foot, hit the final two barriers full and barely managed to finish seventh, in 14.2. Erv Hall won in a relatively slow 13.6.

By most standards, this would have been an excellent meet; but what it should have been, and should have meant, it was not.

Olympic Committee chairman Hilmer Lodge announced early yesterday that the winner in each event would make the United States Olympic team, "pro-

Ed Burke won the hammer throw at 224-1, beating surprising Tom Gage by two inches. But Burke, despite having the win clinched, went for the Coliseum record on his last throw and reinjured his shoulder, which already had had a slight separation. The extent of the new injury was not known.

Ron Whitney turned in a fine 49.5 clocking in the intermediate hurdles, but had to hustle to overtake Geoff Vanderstock, running the race of his life for second in 49.6.

Lee Evans, for the third straight week, got a tremendous battle in the 400, but barely overtook Emmett Taylor at the finish to win in 45.1. Taylor, who won the NCAA 200 but elected to try the longer race—which he prefers, despite finishing a disappointing fifth in the AAU 400 last week—also clocked 45.1 and had Evans nailed until the final couple of yards.

Dick Fosbury, the unorthodox high jumper from Oregon State “fopped” 7-1 to win that event over five others who went 7-0, including high school junior, Reynaldo Brown.

viding he could demonstrate his competitive excellence” during final trials at Lake Tahoe September 9-17.

Since Lodge would not speculate on what would constitute a “demonstration of competitive excellence,” the obvious conclusion was that this meet meant little except a good payday for the Olympic fund—and even that wasn't as good as hoped, with crowds of 23,156 and 25,654 the two days.

Many of the athletes obviously were not “up” psychologically, and many were irritated that their wins or strong showing here meant nothing.

“I don't like the idea that even though I won here, I didn't clinch a position on the team,” 800-meter champion Wade Bell said. “I still have to prove it all over again at Tahoe. I understand that if I finish third there, or even a close fourth, I will probably make it. But what if I don't?”

Aside from the high hurdles and perhaps the 10,000 meters, there were no upsets. In the 10,000 meters, Tracy Smith scratched after his 5000-meter victory Saturday and, after Lindgren dropped out, it became anybody's race. Marine Bill Damer, outsprinted a bunched group of leaders in the final 150 yards to win in 29:11.0, a personal lifetime best, although well below Smith's winning time in the AAU meet last week, 28:47.0.

Walker and Tommie Smith provided the top marks of the day. Walker, one of the nation's most consistent veteran trackmen, got his best jump on his next-to-last effort to break his own American mark of 54-11, set here in 1966, and move into fourth on the all-time world list.

Smith, starting for some reason in lane eight despite winning his semifinal heat, came off the turn and into the long straightaway in the unaccustomed role of leader. He held his small margin against Jim Hines to win the 200 meters in 20.2, just two-tenths off his own world record and tying the Coliseum mark.

Hines was second in 20.3 and Ronnie Ray Smith of San Jose, beginning to make his mark as a coming sprint great, third in 20.4.

Two outstanding distance performances by Tracy Smith and George Young reconfirmed United States strength in the 5,000-meters and 3,000-meter steeplechase Saturday in the final Olympic Trials at Memorial Coliseum.

Smith's 13:42.4 was 13.2 seconds faster than any previous tryout mark as he ran away from a select field in which Steve Stageberg of Georgetown finished a surprising, but distant second. Bob Day of the Army was third.

In the steeplechase Young, who set an American record, a week ago in the national AAU meet, won by two strides from Air Force Lt. Pat Traynor in 8:34.2. That time was 6.2 seconds better than any past Olympic team qualifying performance.

By coincidence, both distance stars were only 4.4 seconds off American records.

Six Make Olympic Team

Smith and Young led seven victors who earned places on the U.S. team in Saturday's finals. Thirteen more will be selected today. Other top performers here will go to South Lake Tahoe to qualify for the squad in September for the Mexico City games in October.

They were two of five who posted trials records.

The others were Randy Matson, winner of the shot put at 67-1, and Bob Seagren and Jon Vaughn, who cleared 17-4 in the pole vault.

In the continuing duel for honors as the world's fastest sprinter, Jim Hines won by inches over Charlie Greene to take the 100-meter dash in 10.3 seconds, reversing the finish of a week ago in the national AAU championships. They now stand two-and-two in races this year.

Others victors Saturday were Bob Beamon in the long jump with a best of 26 feet 8 inches and Frank Covelli in the javelin throw. His winning mark was 257-9.

Establishes Superiority Early

Smith established his superiority early in the 5,000 running the first mile in 4:23.3; the 2-mile in a fast 8:52.5 and then sprinting the final quarter in 59.9 seconds.

Stageberg, second in the NCAA championships two weeks ago, stuck gamely with him for a while before the 23-year-old former Oregon State and Arcadia runner started pouring it on in the last half of the chase. Day, ex-UCLA star, obviously was suffering from stomach cramps. He had won the national AAU 5,000 a week ago.

Young, the 31-year-old Casa Grande, Ariz., school teacher, found Traynor hard to shake in the steeplechase. They traded the lead for a while but Young moved away by four yards on the next to last lap. Traynor closed the lead to two yards but couldn't catch Young on the run to the tape.

After they tied at 17-4, Seagren, the USC star, and Vaughn, from

DISTANCE RUNNERS SPARKLE

UCLA, took a crack at the world's record but neither could clear 17-8. Seagren then won the vault off for first place when the bar was lowered again to 17-4.

For Vaughn, who had won the NCAA championship at 17-1, this was his career high. Seagren came closer to clearing 17-8, barely tipping the bar off on his first try at that height.

The 100-meter dash field was running into an 8.5 m.p.h. wind, precluding fast marks. Hines and Greene had been clocked in world record performances of 9.9 at Sacramento a week ago.

Hines, the ex-Texas Southern star, was a bit slow off the marks after three false starts, one by him, but he caught Greene at the 50, inched ahead from there and held the advantage despite the former Nebraskan's lunge at the tape. Both were clocked in 10.3.

Ronnie Ray Smith of San Jose State was third in 10.4 just edging Capt. Mel Pender of the Army, who also was timed in 10.4.

Matson's trials record throw of 67-1 came on his final effort, but he led the competition all the way. Dave Maggard, ex-California Giant, had the second best at 64-5½, with George Woods, formerly from Southern Illinois, third at 62¾.

Covelli, one-time Arizona State star and member of the 1964 Olympic team, got his winning javelin toss of 257-9 on his first try. He beat Gary Stenlund, formerly of Oregon, whose final pitch of 253-3 put him ahead of Mark Murro, Mesa City (Ariz.) College, who turned in a 242-0.

In the absence of Ralph Boston, world record holder who had to pass the meet because of a knee injury, Beamon had no serious competition as he took the long jump. His 26-8 3/4 was a foot better than that of second place Gayle Hopkins. Jerry Proctor, Redlands freshman, was third with a mark of 25-2 3/4.

Smith, trying for a distance double, comes back this afternoon in the 10,000 and faces Gerry Lindgren and Van Nelson, who bypassed the 5,000 Saturday.

"I feel real good but I'm sorry day came up with some trouble," said the Army private. "We could have run a bit faster together. I knew something was really wrong with Bob (Day) when he fell back so fast."

The "bit faster" could have given him a chance at the American record of 13:38 jointly held by Lindgren and Bob Schul.

Schul, the Olympic gold medal winner at Tokyo four years ago, finished seventh Saturday.

There were eight qualifying races for finals that will be run as part of today's program, but they went pretty much according to form.

Lee Evans of San Jose State set the pace in the 400 meters with a 45.8 performance. His best time this year is 45 seconds flat.

Ron Whitney, former Occidental star and the world's No. 1 intermediate hurdler, took his 400-meter barrier heat in 50.3 seconds, the same clocking as Nick Lee of Baltimore in winning the other heat.

Favorite Wade Bell, ex-Oregon, set the pace in the 800-meter heats with a 1:47.7. In the 1,500, John Mason, AAU champion from Ft. Hays (Kans.) State, won the fastest heat in 3:45.2, with Tom Von Ruden of the Army and Dave Wilbourn, Oregon, close on his heels.

Dave Patrick of Villanova led the slower second heat in the 3:46.2, beating out Brian Kivlan of Manhattan, coming from last on the final lap with a great spurt.

Earl, Lindgren Mishaps Justify Need for Two Trials

BY SHAV GLICK

Times Staff Writer

The crashing of Earl McCullouch into a hurdle and the tender Achilles heel of Gerry Lindgren were more than enough to justify having two Olympic trials, the U.S. coaching staff pointed out Sunday.

McCullouch appeared to be flying over the hurdles at a world record clip when he suddenly threw what looked like a flying block at the final hurdle. Barely able to maintain his balance, The Pearl stumbled across in seventh place at 14.2.

Erv Hall, who had been four yards behind McCullouch, won in 13.6.

"If this had been a final trial in the old-fashioned sense, leaving Earl off the team would have been similar to 1948 when Harrison Dillard hit one in the final trials," explained Stan Wright, one of head coach Payton Jordan's assistant Olympic mentors.

"No other country uses such an archaic system as we once did. We finally decided to do it right," continued the Western Illinois coach. "Our objective is to get the best men to Mexico City and to do it we must be flexible."

Asked if it was fair to charge the public $6 a ticket to watch a pseudo-final trial, Wright snapped, "That's not the problem of the coaching staff, that's another department."

McCullouch, who said he tipped the seventh and eighth hurdles, which led to disaster at No. 10, continued to hedge on the answer to his dilemma: The Olympics or a Detroit Lions pro football contract.

"I have to think it over a few more days," he said. "I should know this week. It's up to them (the Olympic committee) if I'll go to Lake Tahoe."

Little Lindgren, who limped 5½ miles before dropping out in the 10,000 meters (6 miles, 370 yards), was grateful for the seeding committee which immediately placed his name alongside the top place-winners for inclusion in the South Lake Tahoe section of the final trials, Sept. 9-17.

Lee Evans, who last week alluded to the possibility of a dark plot against the pro-boycotters when he was asked to run in the eighth lane in the AAU meet, said he was "happy to be in Lane 6 today," but he still couldn't let the lane issue die.

"There was something fishy about the 200, putting Tommie (Smith) out in 8 and John Carlos in 1. Those are the two guys who support the boycott, and those are the two hated lanes."

Smith, and his wife, former hurdler Denise Paschal, carried the same torch.

"They say they draw them arbitrarily, but I don't know," said Tommie-Jet after his front-running 20.2 victory.

"Tell 'em like it is, Tommie," egged on Denise.

"Ask them why they don't let the athletes draw the lanes out of a hat. Tell 'em Tommie, tell 'em."

When an observer mentioned to Smith that the eighth lane was the most beneficial because of its wide arc, particularly for a long-limbed runner like himself, Smith said, "It just psyches me out."

Carlos, who finished fourth in the 200 in Lane

1, pouted: "Man, Lane One. I think I'll quit track and play football."

The hint of such a collusion brought an adamant retort from Wright, chairman of the seeding committee which assigned the lanes.

"There is no question that it was an honest draw," said Wright. "The rules say the lanes should be drawn by lot and we don't need any policeman or athletes standing over us when we draw."

Wright then explained how the lane assignments were made.

"We have numbered bullets which we put into a hat—it was mine, incidentally, for the 200 meters — and they are drawn out one at a time as the name of each finalist comes up. Five members of the Olympic committee —Brice Durbin, Bob Giegack, Ben Lewis, Hoover Wright and myself—do the drawing.

"And we certainly won't be intimidated by any of this talk I've been hearing," added Wright, a Negro.

The identical method of drawing for lanes will be used in the Olympics.

Another rule, seldom used but which is rigidly followed in the Olympics, cropped up in Sunday's meet. It was penalizing a jumper a "miss" for not making an attempt in two minutes.

Dick Fosbury, who often rocks back and forth from one foot to another for as long as four minutes before taking off in the high jump, was so penalized.

"It was the first time I've ever been called on that," said Fosbury, who won at 7-1. "But if that's the way it is in the Olympics, I'm glad I found about it here."

Trials Lack Drama, Because They All Get Another Chance

BY SHAV GLICK

Times Staff Writer

It is called the Olympic trials, but the drama is lacking.

There was no moment of truth Saturday such as a duel for third place making the difference between a round-trip ticket to Mexico City or a one-way ticket home.

There will be no poignant memories of this Coliseum trials.

Moments like the high school stripling, Jim Ryun, running down the veteran Jim Grelle in 1964 for the third spot on the 1,500 meters team.

Or the dramatic announcement by Dick Nash in 1952, "Art Barnard, you have made the Olympic team," as high hurdle favorite Craig Dixon stood hunched in disbelief over the ninth hurdle after suffering his only spill of the year.

There were no third place duels this year, nor even any sixth place duels.

'True Trials'

Hilmer Lodge, chairman of the U.S. Olympic track and field committee, revealed Saturday that from six to 10 men in each event will be invited to South Lake Tahoe for high altitude training and another trial meet at Echo Summit. Thus, the true "Final Olympic trials" will be held there under identical Olympic Games conditions, Sept. 9-17.

"Even the winner here will not necessarily go to Mexico City," Lodge stated. "The Olympic Committee will meet Sunday night and determine the number of athletes in each event to invite to the training camp and final trials. No one will be definitely selected for the trip to Mexico City until they perform at high altitude."

The only truly eliminated competitor Saturday was Andrew Hopkins, a freshman at Stephen F. Austin, who finished third in a face-off in the 100 meters for 9th, 10th and 11th positions. Jerry Bright of Oakland won, with Larry Questad of the Striders second and each was invited to the Tahoe camp, along with all eight finalists.

No Worries

It was the type of a day where the happiest athlete appeared to be Ralph Boston, the venerable long jumper, waving to the crowd and wearing his widest smile, topped by a huge straw sombrero.

Boston, you see, wasn't even competing. He, along with 14 other athletes such as Jim Ryun, Richmond Flowers, Neal Steinhauer, Preston Davis and Willie Davenport have been seeded straight to South Lake Tahoe without having to undergo the rigors of Los Angeles' "final" trials.

One, little Gerry Lindgren, did not even have to claim injury to be seeded past the 5,000 meters Saturday, an item which did not escape the winner, Tracy Smith.

"I was surprised Lindgren was allowed to pass up the 5,000 and I understand he will still have a chance to double up," complained the former Arcadia High two-miler who is now an Army private. "More power to him if he can do it, but I don't think it's fair for me to have to run the two races."

Smith and Lindgren presumably will meet today in the 10,000.

Two of Saturday's winners, sprinter Jim Hines and long jumper Bob Beamon, predicted out-of-this-world performances in Mexico City's over-7,000 foot altitude.

"It'll take a 9.8 and maybe even a 9.7 to win the 100 meters," said Hines. "And it will be between me and Charlie,"

Hines nipped Greene, the ex-Nebraskan, in 10.3 against an 8.5 mile per hour wind. Jim, charged with a "jump" for an attempted rolling start, said he was off to one of his worst starts of the year, accounting for the slow winning time.

Hines, Greene and Ronnie Ray Smith, who finished third a fraction ahead of Mel Pender, all were timed in 9.9 a week ago at Sacramento.

Beamon, who long jumped 26-8 $\frac{3}{4}$, said that mark wouldn't even win a bronze medal at Mexico City.

Overweight Shots

"It will take at least 28 feet to win," said the lanky New Yorker, who will "go home and rest for six weeks before coming back to Lake Tahoe."

Randy Matson, although nearly three feet off his best of the year, dominated the shot put as expected, but he might have done better had not the Olympic Committee produced some overweight shots.

"Two of the shots were 6 ounces overweight and naturally no one would use them," said big Randy. "As a consequence, there were 16 men trying to use the same two shots and it created a good deal of confusion which ruined everyone's concentration. No one threw well today."

The furnishing of shots by the Olympic Committee was done because the same procedure is used at the Games themselves.

There were a number of scratches Saturday, but Terry Thompson, Oregon State's half-miler, certainly had the best excuse. Thompson is a commercial fisherman and the salmon were running.
