American record and the 56-7 effort yesterday moved the mark up 5½ inches. A graduate of Tufts University in Massachusetts, Maren moved to San Jose this year to concentrate on her training and has been working out with Al Feuerbach. She has been making a small salary, stenciling T-shirts.

"I kind of hoped I'd throw a little better today," she said, "but I guess you cannot complain about a record. From warmups, I thought I'd throw farther, but my other throws didn't feel that good."

Maren's teacher-friend Feuerbach, scored his second victory over George Woods in as many days in the men's shot, going 69-11 to win by nine inches. In Wichita Friday night, Big Al beat him, 70-10 to 70-3.

"I'm satisfied under the circumstances," Feuerbach said. "I had to fly from Wichita to Denver to get some sleep and get here this morning. I was in Europe for nine days before that, then went from London to Chicago to Wichita. The airlines lost my baggage and it's been a hassle . . . but I love to compete, so I put up with it."

Even tired, Feuerbach managed an excellent series — 68-3½, foul, 69-6½, 67-8½, 69-11, 69-10½ — and had three puts better than Woods' best. It was the ninth meet this year Al has been over 69 feet.

The only meet record in the men's open division was John Powell's 215-0 effort in the discus, breaking Tim Vollmer's year-old standard by nearly six feet.

"After getting off the big throw last week (223-4) in Modesto, I kind of slacked off in training this week," Powell said. "I figured on that. I wanted to ease off and then build up again for the AAU meet later this month."

"All I wanted here today was to get close to the meet record and since I broke it so easily I would have to say it was an awfully good throw. A lot better throwers than me have come here and nobody's done any better."

Certainly the popular result with the Berkeley crowd was the Cal sprint relay team's 40.0 upset of the Philadelphia Pioneers with Crockett and Hasley Crawford. Excellent handoffs got the Bears into a bare lead on the anchor leg and Sammy Burns held off Crawford and John Pettus of the Bay Area Striders to provide Cal its first victory ever in a Kennedy Games event.

The time equalled the season best for the Bears' team of Wesley Walker, McKinley Mosley, Howard Strickland and Burns.

"I couldn't tell from the way we started if we had a chance," Burns said, "but I heard the announcer mention Cal when Howard was getting close to me. I looked around and the Pioneers were fumbling the handoff. I waited for the baton and got a perfect pass. Then I just took off. It felt so good."
