Lane Community College sophomore sprint sensation Andrew Banks and jack-of-all-trades competitor Joel Johnson did everything but hawk tickets in leading the Titans to an 88½-80 margin over College of Southern Idaho in the men's section of a coed college track meet on the LCC campus Thursday afternoon.

Oregon College of Education and Clackamas battled it out for first in the women's competition with the Wolves claiming a 109-103 win.

Banks, described by Lane Coach Al Tarpenning as "one of the class sprinters in the Pacific Northwest," smoked to a 10.37 in leading the Titans to a 1-2-3 sweep in the 100 meters and doubled with a fine 21.53 to hold off Southern Idaho's Drexel Lawson in the 200 meters. Lawson was clocked in 21.84.

Portland-area sprinters Chuck Casin-Cross and Bobby Person followed Banks to the tape in the first heat of the 100 meters, clocking 10.40 and 10.42, respectively, for the Lane sweep.

Johnson finished .06 behind Southern Idaho's Joe Williams in the 110 meter high hurdles but turned the tables on Williams with a 54.16 in the 400 meter intermediates and recorded personal bests and qualified for the National Junior College Athletic Assn. championship meet in both events. Johnson has already qualified in the decathlon.

A second in the pole vault (12-6), a tie for second in the high jump, a leg on the second-place LCC mile relay quartet and a non-scoring fifth in the javelin finished out Johnson's afternoon.

Weightman Jim Pitts recorded personal records in winning the shot put and discus. Pitts bettered his previous shot put best with a 52-2½ and beat teammate Charlie Keeran for the first time with a 148-7 effort in the discus.

Mike McGriff (14:54.52 for 5,000 meters) and Mike Sweeney (13-0 in the pole vault) were also winners for Lane. McGriff's mark qualifies him for the NJCAA meet.

Lynn Winbiger of the Oregon Track Club won the shot put and discus to highlight performances by area competitors in the women's meet.

Southern Oregon's Lori Hildebrandt won the 100 meters (12.64), the 100 meter hurdles (15.10) and the intermediates (1:04.75) to pace the Red Raiders.

Amanda Eggleston claimed wins in the 200 meters and 400 meters and grabbed a third in the 100 meters to aid the Clackamas cause.

Kris Jensen and Anne Meurlott of the University of Oregon junior varsity placed fourth and fifth, respectively, in the 400 meters and Lane's Lavelle Bond threw the discus 120-5¼ for fourth place and a season best.

The Titan men host Southwestern Oregon, Linn-Benton, Mt. Hood, the Oregon Track Club and Oregon's junior varsity at 1 p.m. Saturday on the Lane oval.
