home watching the Olympics on TV. Fortunately, I had met a girl about a week before the Trials and she really helped me through a difficult time.

"I was really beating my head against the wall. I'd worked for eight years to get there."

If Albritton was pleased with his resurgence, Wilkins, performing before the home folks for the first time since winning the discus gold in Montreal, had been down with a cold earlier in the

Hurdler breaks one, Quarrie ties another

By NEIL CAWOOD
Of the Register-Guard

PORTLAND — Don Quarrie and Dedy Cooper acted almost as if world records were part of the show.

Cooper blitzed the world's 60-meter indoor high hurdle record by more than one-tenth of a second and Quarrie tied the world's indoor 60-meter dash mark to give a record crowd at the 17th annual Oregon Indoor Track and Field Meet at Memorial Coliseum more than enough to cheer about Saturday night.

In an indoor meet that was rare in that nearly every top-flight competitor who said he would show up did, Quarrie and Cooper highlighted an excellent meet.

Cooper, of San Jose State, powered over the high hurdles in 7.54 to better the listed world record of 7.66 held jointly by Anatoly Moshishvili of Russia and Frank Siebeck of East Germany (7.66). The 60-meter hurdles has not been a common event in the United States, but in indoor meets in Europe it's the standard hurdle race.

Quarrie, the Olympic 200-meter gold medalist sprinted past Lane Community College's Andrew Bank to win the 60 meters in 6:57, tying the world record set by Gerbard Wucherer of West Germany.

"That's the first time I've run that distance (meters)," said Cooper, who missed making the U.S. Olympic team because of a fall at the Trials in Eugene. "It didn't really feel like I was going so fast."

Cooper, who has won all three races he's entered indoors so far this year, hardly seemed worked up about his world record.

"Oh, I've had 'em before," Cooper continued. "At least one. In high school I ran 13.2 and that was the world's high school record at the time."

Quarrie, of course, has set a host of records and he currently owns the world's 200 meter mark (19.8).

"Nobody said anything to me," smiled Quarrie when told he had tied the 60-meter record.

"I was just trying to get a good start tonight and make up for the poor showing last night in New York. I just wanted the satisfaction of knowing that I'm not really running that bad."

If a world record won't convince Quarrie, nothing will.

There were several featured events and none of them failed to produce.

A very classy field of shotputters was bested by former world-record-holder Terry Albritton; Rick Rose of Western Kentucky won the big 3,000-meter race over Washington State's two Kenyans and Oregon's Randy Chapa; Francie Larrieu Lutz continued her dominance of the women's mile field; Henny Rono won the mile; and Finland's Anti Kalliomäki nipped UCLA's Mike Tully in the indoor spectacular — the pole vault.

For Albritton, it was his first win this year, his first real success since flopping in the Trials last year, and a win over some real athletes — Mac Wilkins, Al Feurbach, and Russia's Aleksandr Bariehanikov, the current world record holder.

Albritton hit 68-2½ on his third toss for the win. Wilkins' best was 65-7½. Feurbach had four throws over 60, but Barichnikov, who uses Brian Oldfield's spinning discus technique, got over 60 only once.

"It's coming together," said Albritton, a big friendly bear of a man. "I'm attending Stanford now (one year of eligibility remaining) since the University of Hawaii gave up track, and it's taken me time to get used to the 50 degrees in the Bay Area compared to the 80 degrees in Hawaii."

Albritton also confesses it has been somewhat difficult getting over the blow that occurred in Eugene last summer when he failed to make the U.S. team as the then world record holder.

"I think it finally hit me two weeks later," said Albritton. "I was sitting Sprinters stole the limelight Saturday night in the 17th annual Oregon Invitational Indoor track and field meet, but it was over so quickly that few of the 8,701 in attendance at Memorial Coliseum seemed to realize one world record had been shattered and another tied.

San Jose State's Dedy Cooper flashed to a 7.54-second time in the 60-meter high hurdles to topple the mark of 7.66 set in 1974 by Russia's Anatoly Moshialshvili.

And in the 60-meter dash, Don Quarrie tied the world mark of 6.57 set by West Germany's Gerhard Wcherer in 1972.

Cooper, in busting out of the starting blocks, had so much momentum that even clipping the third hurdle didn't faze him.

"I didn't even know I had hit it," said Cooper, voted the meet's outstanding competitor. "Of course, I'm surprised at the record, but I just got off to a good start."

Quarrie, who finished last in New York's Millrose Games Friday, said he had to atone for the embarrassing show in that 60-yard run against rival Steve Riddick.

"I was so bad last night (Friday) that I had to make up for it," he said. Quarrie said he would be pointing for Riddick in the Los Angeles Times Games next Saturday.

In the shot, half of discus world recordholder Mac Wilkins' predictions were correct.

He had predicted that a toss of 68 feet would win and that he probably would do it.

Part of it was true. Terry Albritton, who at one time held the world mark of 71-8½, won the event with a 68-2½ effort. Wilkins finished third with 65-7¼ to Al Feuerbach's 67-3.

"I thought I could be the guy," Wilkins said while surrounded by youngsters seeking his autograph.

"But the upper parts came first tonight," he said, referring to throwing with his arm. "I wasn't getting my body into it."

Still, he wasn't all that disappointed. "If I can get 65 feet with my arm, I know there is more there. A lot more. I just hope the fans got excited (about the competition). I know we were plenty excited out there."

The two Russian competitors — Aleksandr Barishnikov and Yevgeniy Mironov — never got it all together. Mironov's best was 64-6½, which placed him fourth, while Barishnikov, who has tossed 72-2¼, finished fifth at 63-4½.

One Russian who did put it together — at least enough to win the triple jump — was three-time Olympic gold medalist Viktor Saneyev. He made it look easy on his first effort and posted a jump of 54-1½ that stood up for the win.

It was, he admitted, more like a practice session. "I'm satisfied," he said through his interpreter. The jump was more than two feet shy of his world record of 56-3½, but it was almost three feet better than second-place finisher Ilean Campbell of Washington State, who jumped 51-3.

Later, in the hallway outside the arena and smoking a cigarette, Saneyev talked in broken but understandable English.

"The runway was about this short," he said, holding his hands about two feet apart. He said it was difficult for him to keep his balance.

Saneyev and the other Russian athletes, coach and interpreter didn't stick around long after competing.

They had a 10:30 p.m. flight to catch to New York to make connections with an Aeroflot flight back to Russia.

Antti Kalliomaki of Finland won the pole vault with a 17-9 effort. He defeated UCLA's Mike Tully, who cleared 17-6. Dan Ripley, who was expected to give Kalliomaki his stiffest competition, was forced to scratch because of a late injury suffered Friday night in the Millrose Games.

Kalliomaki complained about the narrowness of the landing pit. "I would think about it all the way down the runway," he said.

Another record was kept intact Saturday night as Francie Larrieu Lutz, holder of five indoor world records, easily won the women's mile in 4:39.76. The win came less than 24 hours after she won the 1,500 meters at the Millrose Games.

Lutz defeated Judy Graham, who finished second at 4:41.32.

"I was surprised at the slow pace," Lutz said, "and decided to take it myself." Once she did, it was all over.

In the women's high jump, Debbie Brill of Canada and ex-Oregon State athlete and Sheridan resident Joni Huntley each cleared 5-11, but Brill won on fewer misses.

"Considering I've only started working out this month, and that this was only my second meet, I feel pretty good," Brill said. "I was really out of shape and I've been working like hell to get back."

SJS hurdler off to a 'good start'

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Dedy Cooper of San Jose State credits his world indoor record in the 60-meter high hurdles to a "good start."

Cooper set the mark Saturday night in the 17th annual Oregon Invitational Indoor track and field meet. His time of 7.54 seconds broke the mark of 7.66 set in 1974 by Anatoly Moshiasvili of Russia.

Cooper broke out of the blocks so fast that it didn't even bother him when he clipped the third hurdle.

"I didn't even know I had hit it," Cooper said. "Of course, I'm surprised at the record, but I just got off to a good start."

Another world record was tied. Veteran Don Quarrie ran the 60-meter dash in 6.57 to equal the mark set in 1972 by Gerhard Wucherer of West Germany.

Quarrie finished last in the Millrose Games in New York Friday night and said he had to atone for that.

"I was so bad last night (Friday) that I had to make up for it," he said. He added he would be pointing for rival Steve Riddick in the Los Angeles Times Games next Saturday.

San Jose resident Mac Wilkins, the world discus record holder, had to settle for third in the shot behind Terry Albritton of Stanford and Al Feuerbach of San Jose. Albritton's winning toss was 68-2½. Feuerbach threw 67-3 and Wilkins 65-7½.

Wilkins had predicted 68 feet would win it and said, "I thought I could be the guy. But I wasn't getting my body into it."

The two Russian entries, Aleksandr Barishnikov and Yevgeniy Mironov were fourth and fifth, respectively, with 64-6½ and 63-4½.

Another Russian athlete, Viktor Saneyev, set a meet record of 51-11½ to win the triple jump.

Another meet record was tied by Finland's Antti Kalliomaki who had a 17-9 effort in the pole vault. UCLA's Mike Tully was second in 17-6. Ex-San Jose State star Dan Ripley, who had been expected to give Kalliomaki his toughest opposition, scratched because of an injury suffered Friday night in the Millrose games.

Other winners included world record holder Dwight Stones in the high jump at 7-2 with fewer misses than Tom Woods; Debbie Brill of Canada in the women's high jump at 5-9 with fewer misses than Oregon-raised Joni Huntley; Francie Larrieu Lutz in the women's mile in 4:39.7; Henry Rono of Washington State the open mile in 4:03.8; Vesco Bradley of Cluy Northwest with 24-8¼ in the long jump, and Nick Rose of Western Kentucky the 3,000 meters in 7:53.51.

World Record For Dedy

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Dedy Cooper of San Jose State set a world record in the 60-meter high hurdles Saturday night at the Oregon Indoor track and field meet.

Electric timing devices caught Cooper in 7.54. The old mark was 7.66 by Anatoly Moshiasvili of the Soviet Union in 1974 and Frank Siebeck of East Germany in 1975.

Cyndy Poor of San Jose lost to her chief rival in the women's mile, Francie Larrieu, who made the 3000-mile from New York after competing in the Melrose Games Friday night, finished first in 4:39.7, considerably off her meet record of 4:34.7 and her world record of 4:28.5. Poor was third, 4:49.3, behind Judy Graham, 4:41.3, of the West Valley Track Club.

The world record holder in the triple jump, Victor Saneyev of the Soviet Union easily won his specialty, leaping 54 feet, 1½ inches, more than two feet short of his world record.

Saneyev, who has won three Olympic gold medals, said afterward that he regarded the competition here as a practice session. He said the runway was too short and the competition not sufficiently intense to produce world-class leaps.

Another Olympic gold medal winner, Don Quarrie, won the 60-meter dash in 6.57, erasing the meet record of 6.67 that he set here last year.
