

1998 NCS MOC Boys' Team Time Comparisons:

These time comparisons are fairly straightforward. The teams are ranked by time across all five races. The only deviation is where a team with a slower time beat another team on points.

League Strength Comparisons: This is my annual folly to ascertain the comparative league strength. The MOC is scored as a single meet, with each league considered an individual team. Each school is then an individual, and the places are the rankings by time above. Teams (that is, leagues) take 3 to score, 5 to displace.

1.	Bay Valley Athletic League	16
2.	North Bay League	22
3.	East Bay Athletic League	25
4.	Alameda-Contra Costa Athletic League	41
5.	Humboldt-Del Norte League	63
6.	Hayward Area Athletic League	68 (32)
7.	Marin County Athletic League	68 (40)
8.	Tri-County Athletic League	83
9.	Bay Counties League	84 (55)
10.	Mission Valley Athletic League	84 (56)
11.	Sonoma County League	112
12.	Coastal Mountain Conference	139

This is an interesting analysis, in that the balance of power is not necessarily a matter of geography or of school size. The talent and the successful programs are spread throughout or extruded section. Also, it is interesting to note that we do not have any incomplete leagues. The CMC was able to come through with three teams at the MOC to demonstrate league intensity.

Overall, 88 different schools sent teams, with 526 runners finishing the five boys races.

League Strength: Again, the MOC is treated as a meet between leagues, with schools as individuals. 3 to score, 5 to displace:

1. North Bay League	22
2. Bay Valley Athletic League	23
3. East Bay Athletic League	28
4. Tri-County Athletic League	34
5. Hayward Area Athletic League	61
6. Bay Counties League	62
7. Mission Valley Athletic League	64
8. Humboldt-Del Norte League	67
9. Alameda-Contra Costa Athletic League	80
10. Marin County Athletic League	88
11. Sonoma County League	126
12. Coastal Mountain Conference	147

This is a first: we have no incomplete leagues. The HDNL, the CMC and the SCL all checked in with at least 3 full teams at MOC. The close scores indicate balance through the section. We have a tremendous amount of talent in the NCS girls. With 82 different schools sending athletes, and 444 runners finishing races, we had excellent participation across the section at our championship event. This is an improvement over previous years, where not all schools saw fit to send teams.

ALL-NCS TEAMS: These squads are picked purely on the basis of time across all the races. Where possible (except for ties) the attempt was made to form three teams of seven runners each. Congratulations to each of these fine individuals and their quality efforts:
